

Photo Copyright Clarence H. Mackay

Photo Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

Clarence H. Mackay has offered Harbor Hill, his estate at Roslyn, L. I., one of the most splendid in America, to the Government for use as a base hospital under the auspices of the Red Cross. It will make a most notable addition to the nation's facilities for caring for sick and wounded. The pictures show the house, the stables and garage (at the left) and in the circle Mr. Mackay and his daughters, Katherine, the elder, at the left, and Ellen at the right.

Miss Genevieve Clendenin and Mrs. J. Thetus Munds at the garden party for the 307th Regiment in Gramercy Park. Copyright International Film.

This is the distinguished service cross of the United States, the new decoration granted for exceptional bravery in battle. Copyright, 1918, Committee on Public Information.

A group of American National Army men at Wellington Barracks in England. Major the Earl of Stair is seated in the front row and next to him on the right is Col. Whitman, U. S. A. The officers are on their way to France. Copyright Western Newspaper Union.

In this spot in Ireland rest the bodies of a number of victims of the Lusitania. The Cunard Line recently had the sign placed above the graves. Most of those who were buried there were unidentified. British Official Photo from Underwood & Underwood.

